Signed by the President March 1, 1963. FEB 27 1963

Mr. Whittington informed 3/5/63 PLM

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. McGEORGE BUNDY
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Full Power for Ambassador Reischauer to sign a consular convention with Japan

There is attached for the President's signature a Full Power authorizing Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer in Tokyo to sign a consular convention between the United States and Japan.

The provisions of the convention, like consular provisions in force between the United States and many other countries, are designed to regularize and regulate in certain respects the consular affairs of each country in the territory of the other country, dealing with such matters as the status of a consular establishment, the duties and functions of consular officers, and the rights, privileges, and immunities of consular personnel. The convention with Japan follows, in general, the pattern of the consular conventions of the United States presently in force with Ireland and the United Kingdom.

The convention, which is the result of many years of negotiation with Japan, will be sent to the Senate for advice and consent to ratification.
